Why Send Out of Town for Your Printing

When you can have first-class work done right here, by first-class union printers.

The business man who sends out of town for his printing injures his own business as well as that of others. While on the other hand the man who patronizes home institutions increases the town's pay roll, and thereby builds up his business.

The printers and book binders in the cities of surrounding states do not come here to spend their money.

HARVEST OF GRIM REAPER

MANY LEADERS OF SPORT REMOVED BY DEATH DURING THE YEAR 1910

Death has reaped a rich harvest in the field of sport and athletics during the year now drawing to a close. Baseball, in particular, has lost an unusually large number of its leaders. Prominent among those identified with the national game who have passed away during the year are Thomas J. Loftus, one of the most famous baseball players and managers of history; Henry V. Lucas, who owned the St. Louis Maroons when they were champions of the world; Col. John I. Rogers, former part owner of the Philadelphia National League club; Eugene F. Burt, for several years president of the Pacific Coast league; Samuel L. Wright, who at the time of his death was president of the Ohio and Pennsylvania league; John Morrow, who was one of the first presidents of the Southern league; James P. Walsh, owner of the Rockford team of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, and McDonald Douglas, manager of the Stockton club of the California State league.

Among the active players and former stars of the diamond who died during the year were Sam Wise, who was shortstop for the Boston club when it won the National league championship in 1883; Jack O'Brien, catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics when that team won the American association championship in the same year; James W. Holliday, once the greatest outfielder playing baseball; Michael P. Hines, catcher for the Boston Nationals in the early '80s; Allan M. Storke, who played all the infield positions with the Pittsburg Nationals in 1908-09; Joseph Nealon, who played first base for the Pittsburg Nationals during two seasons; Morris Critchley, an old-time pitcher for Pittsburg; Patrick M. Downing, for several years a player with the Southern league and Blue Grass league teams; and Joseph C. Hennessey, an outfielder last season on the Trenton, N. J., team.

Patrick Gillespie, who played with the old New York Giants in the '80s; "Wild Bill" Hassamar, formerly with the Washington club;

Tom Doran, who played with Boston and Detroit and with many minor league clubs; Charles Esper, formerly a pitcher for the old Athletics; Harry E. Staley, who caught for the Boston Nationals years ago; Jack Horner, scout for the Detroit American league club; Robert Pettit, who played under Anson with the Chicago Nationals; Owen Jackson, of the Lynchburg team of the Virginia league, and Ray Marshall, who played right field for the Jacksonville, Fla., team.

Stanley Ketchel, champion lightweight, and Joe Gans, former champion in the same class, head the list of fighters who have passed away during the twelvemonth. Other fighters of more or less prominence in the world of pugilism who have died during the year include Jem Mace, the old English heavyweight; Tom Bate of New Jersey, who at one time held the lightweight championship of England; Johnny Dwyer, once well known as a featherweight fighter; Doc Payne, the old Cleveland boxer; Walter Whitehead, a negro pugilist, well known in the northwest; Tommy McCarthy, who died as a result of a bout with Owen Moran; Johnny Murphy, a San Francisco lightweight; Billy Dunning, a heavyweight pugilist of Maine, and "Kid Hyland," a young boxer of Buffalo.

Among the notables of the turf who passed away were Phil Daly, Robert L. Tucker, a noted horse owner and trainer of Louisville; Allan B. Stanbury of Baltimore, well known as a horseman throughout the United States and Canada; Lucien O. Appleby, who had been actively engaged in racing since 1865; Stoughton R. Clark, one of the best known trainers and drivers of light harness horses in the east; Fred Langan, the well known jockey; and Ernest Huppe, a steeplechase jockey.

The green table sport lost Jacob Schaefer, who held every billiard championship of the world, from the straight to three-cushion caroms.

Golf lost Willie Anderson, hero of a thousand hard-fought matches on the links, and Sprague Abbott, who won the Trans-Mississippi championship in 1907.

Leaders of the gridiron sport who passed away included Francis Burr and James J. Hogan, former captains respectively of the Harvard and Yale teams; Earl Wilson, of the Naval cadets; Ralph Wilson, halfback of the Wabash college;

ALL SUBSCRIBERS TO THE BONANZA WHO ARE IN ARREARS ARE REQUESTED TO SETTLE AT ONCE. OUR REPRESENTATIVE WILL CALL PLEASE, PAY HIM PROMPTLY, OTHERWISE IT WILL BE NECESSARY TO PLACE SUCH ACCOUNTS IN THE HANDS OF A COLLECTOR.

team; Rudolph Monk, captain of the West Virginia university eleven, and L. B. Payne of the Cornell freshmen.

McCormick, ex-champion skater of the world; Ralph Johnstone, the aviator; John Dustin Freeman, expert polo player; William Martin, Cornish wrestling champion; and Al Livingstone, Tobin de Hymel, Thomas Kincaid and W. ### NEW NATIONAL HOLIDAY PROPOSED

A new national holiday is proposed in a bill now in the committee on judiciary of the house of representatives, that, if adopted, will make April 25 of every year a day of general jollification.

The bill proposes the setting aside of that date for doing honor to the name "America," as the cognomen of the continent. Plans for national, state and civic celebrations each year are included in the measure which is a lengthy document, outlining the means by which the name America was given to the continent, through the voyages of discovery of Americus Vesputi, the Italian explorer.

Representative Hamill, of New Jersey, the author of the bill, declares it will fill a long felt want. He says that the whole continent of America, from Hudson's Bay to the Isthmus of Panama would join in celebrating the day.
